Maharashtra: Satara Teacher's 'Lockdown Teaching' Innovation Wins Award.
Balaaji Jadhav, the teacher whose teaching idea won the award.

An indefinite lockdown, children out of classrooms, poor parents with no smartphones or data connectivity and the threat of students falling out of school. But Satara teacher Balaaji Jadhav, who had 40 children in his small Ella Parishad school in Vijay Nagar, refused to allow teaching to stop. Since parents did not own smartphones, Jadhav started teaching through conference calls, 10 students at a time. Teaching was done through storytelling, sometimes stories were made up by both the teacher and the students together and these were then recorded to share with other students later.
